How to Establish AND Grow Your Credit Score

Follow these steps to establish your credit and set yourself up for a brighter financial future:

Get educated

Schedule a free Credit History Lesson to receive one-on-one credit coaching from a Dupaco expert. You'll find out what's in your credit report and learn how to improve and maintain your score. dupaco.com/CreditHistory

Establish credit

A Credit Coach loan can help you establish credit—and get you in the habit of making loan payments. Opening your first low-limit credit card will further establish your credit.

dupaco.com/visa

Start as soon as possible

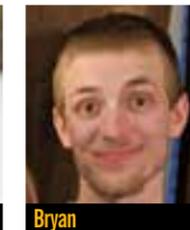

The length of your credit history makes up 15% of your score, so it's important to get started when you turn 18.

Use it for the right reason

Even without making purchases on your card, you'll begin to establish positive credit. In the beginning, consider charging just one small purchase you were already planning to make each month. Pay off your balance in full, on time, every month.

Great Credit Racers on Mission to Build Credit

Did you know your credit score impacts your ability to get a loan or credit card, rent an apartment and even get a job?

But it's really hard to get credit if you have no credit score. Doesn't make sense, does it?

On a mission to help members build their credit for a brighter financial future, Dupaco kicked off its third Great Credit Race® on May 1. Twelve participants are racing to build their credit score from 0 to as high as possible in six months.

The racers' first scores posted June 17. And the initial results delivered a clear front-runner, with Dupaco member Nick establishing an impressive score of 799. His early lead is sizable, with four racers in a tie for second place with scores of 701. But it's still anyone's race.

In the race, each participant:

- Received a Dupaco Platinum Visa® credit card with a $1,000 limit.
- Gets one-on-one advice and coaching from Dupaco experts.

The racer with the highest score at the finish line wins $1,000, with the second-place finisher receiving $500.

The Great Credit Race is one more way the credit union is fulfilling its mission to improve each member's financial position, said Dupaco's Cindy Hilkin, who is mentoring the four race coaches.

"It's a great educational opportunity not only to build your credit but also to learn how it affects your future decisions," she said.

Your Dupaco Membership Pays

At a cooperative like Dupaco, you're not just a member, you're an owner. Active participation powers the credit union—and you share in the success. The more you use Dupaco, the more you're thanked with extra cash dividends. An active checking account indicates your commitment and is the key to unlocking your Thank Use®. How much will you earn in 2019?

Build up your savings and earn up to $60.

Earn up to $60 for interest paid on your loans.

Use Dupaco's financial and insurance services to get up to $25.

Earn 5 cents every time you pay with your Dupaco card.

Opt into Dupaco digital services and get up to $15.

Earn up to $15 for being a returning Thank Use participant.

If Thank Use participation reaches 53,500 members or more by Sept. 30, you'll receive an additional $10.

Members under age 18 can earn $25 by making five individual savings deposits of $5 or more between Jan. 1, 2019, and Sept. 30, 2019.

To participate in Thank Use, you must be eligible for Dupaco membership and meet campaign requirements. See details at dupaco.com/ThankUse.

Home equity defined

The difference between the home's fair market value and the outstanding balance of all liens on the property. It's the part of the house that belongs to you, not your lender.

Did you know?

You can borrow against your equity with a home equity line of credit or home equity loan. Here are three money-smart ways to put your equity to work for you:

1. Debt consolidation

Transfer and combine your loan and credit card balances into one loan, potentially lowering both your interest and monthly payment.

2. Home improvement

Many projects, such as a kitchen or bathroom remodel, can increase the value of your home—in turn boosting your home's equity.

3. Anything at any time

Use the funds for an emergency, a vacation or something else.

Money Smart Ways to Use Your Home Equity

Dupaco Continues to Grow With Its Members

As more members join and use their credit union, Dupaco continues to grow, too—expanding and finding new ways to serve its members by boosting their financial positions. Earlier this year, construction began at two Dupaco locations, one in Dubuque, Iowa, and the other in Carroll, Iowa. Here's the latest on both projects:

Dubuque

Construction began this spring on the credit union's new operations center—located in a vacant manufacturing building in Dubuque's Historic Millwork District, the area where Dupaco was founded.

The redevelopment of the 174,670-square-foot, five-story building, previously known as Voices, will help meet the needs of Dupaco's rapidly growing number of members and employees. No Dupaco branches will close as a result of the new operations center.

Dupaco could occupy the building's top three floors by late 2020, with the first and second floors potentially featuring a mix of retail, entertainment and community space. Paying homage to the building's artful and historic past, it will be called the Dupaco Voices Building.

"Beyond giving new life to a tired community treasure, we want the building's use to best align with other community priorities," said Dupaco President and CEO Joe Hearn.

During the past six years, Dupaco has grown from serving 64,000 members to more than 117,000. To successfully serve these members, the number of credit union employees also has increased, though at a much slower pace.

Carroll

Dupaco's Carroll branch is being remodeled and expanded into a full-service learning lab—designed to help members understand money and improve their financial positions.

The branch will be open normal hours during the project, which is expected to be completed late this year.

The branch will go from 2,590 square feet to a two-story, 6,211-square-foot Dupaco Learning Lab. Learning lab employees will focus on teaching members how to control their money through hands-on demonstrations of Dupaco desktop, tablet and mobile deposit services, and more.

As with the other learning labs, Dupaco employees located at a central location in Dubuque will remotely operate the Carroll lobby and drive-through live video tellers.

"Live video tellers will give members more access to Dupaco branch employees in order to have deeper conversations about money, products and services," said Dupaco Chief Marketing Officer David Klavitter.

How to Decide Whether You Can Afford a Bigger Home

By Krystal Frederick | Mortgage lending consultant supervisor
Thinking about buying a house with a larger footprint?

As you weigh the pros and cons, remember that more home means more expenses. Take the time to crunch all the numbers. Here's a breakdown of what to consider—in addition to the mortgage and interest—when looking at a larger house:

Compare property taxes.

If your next house is in a different neighborhood, you might be looking at more expensive property taxes, which will affect your budget. You can go to the county assessor's website and enter addresses to see past property taxes for homes in neighborhoods you're considering.

Calculate the utilities.

A bigger house means more rooms to heat and cool. If you find a property you're interested in, ask your real estate agent to find out what the seller's average utility bills are during each season of the year.

Check into your insurance.

Communicate with your insurance agent to find out how a different home might impact your homeowner's insurance premiums.

Review your budget.

If you're nervous about a larger monthly payment, come into Dupaco for a free Money Makeover. There might be ways we can help you restructure your debt to free up more money in your budget.

Try some practice payments.

Say you're currently paying $1,000 a month for your mortgage, and you're considering a home that would bump your monthly payment to $1,500. Open a Dupaco You Name It Savings account, and have that extra $500 automatically transferred into that account each month. Try it for three months and see whether you can comfortably afford it.

Get preapproved for your loan.

Getting preapproved for your mortgage loan first will let you know how much you can borrow based on your income and existing debt.

Krystal Frederick

Member Participation Powers Your Credit Union

During the 2019 Iowa legislative session, you were instrumental in preventing for-profit banking lobbyists from advancing legislation that would hinder credit unions' ability to serve members, especially in rural areas.

Thank you for using your voice to write letters or emails to your local legislators on the impact Dupaco has had on you. Your participation with this legislative session made all the difference.

If you've visited Dupaco.com in recent weeks, you've likely noticed that a major makeover has taken place. Thanks to your feedback, our new website features a custom, bold and modern design, while being ADA compliant and adaptable for PC, smartphone and tablet users.

WATERLOO, Iowa—Anna and Dakodda Grimm dreamed of eventually buying the house they rented next door to her childhood home.

But as the Washburn couple built their credit to prepare for homeownership, the unexpected happened.

Dakodda, who had dealt with health complications in the past, went into cardiac arrest and died in September—leaving his wife and their toddler, Cooper, behind.

"My husband was a gentle giant. He was a great cook, and he would have done anything for anybody," Anna said. "I've gotten a lot stronger. I've had to for my son."

Wanting to see their dream through, Anna turned to Dupaco's San Marnan Learning Lab in Waterloo for homeownership guidance. It's the credit union the couple had been planning to join.

Anna was put in touch with Dupaco's Jake Bemis.

"If I had questions, Jake was able to answer them and explain things so I understood it," she said. "He made the experience smooth, especially given the situation, and he couldn't have been more helpful."

On March 15, Anna purchased the house—officially fulfilling a lifelong dream to live next door to her parents.

"The day I went in to sign the paperwork, my son and mother-in-law were with me. Dupaco gave my son a cute beach ball and had crayons set up for him in the conference room. It was super sweet and showed great hospitality," Anna said. "I can't thank Dupaco enough for being so great through this whole process with me."

Anna's mortgage payments are half the amount she paid in rent each month, freeing up her budget to save for other goals, like college for her son. Her house is a near replica of her childhood home, with a fenced-in backyard for her son and dog to play in.

"It's a cute little house in a nice little town that will be perfect for us. It was perfect for me growing up, so I know it will be perfect for my son," Anna said. "Being able to call it mine officially now means the entire world to me."

Is That Email Legit? Here's How to Tell

PROTECTION CONNECTION

dupaco.com/fraud

Not everything is what it appears to be—especially online.

Phishing emails often look like real emails but are designed to steal your identity by asking you for personal information.

Phishing emails can take several forms:

- They appear to come from your financial institution or a company you regularly do business with.
- They direct you to call a customer support number, and a person or an audio response waits to take your personal information.
- They include official-looking logos taken directly from legitimate websites.
- They include links to spoofed websites where you're asked to enter personal information.

Here's what to watch for:

- DO NOT click any link or open any attachment included in unknown or unexpected emails—especially if the message directs you to click a link to fix a problem. If you want to go to the website, go instead to your browser and type the website address.
- The email contains an attachment and a password in the same message. It doesn't make sense to include both in the same email.
- You didn't initiate the action being requested of you.
- Take a close look at the sender's email address. For example, is it amazom.com or amazon.com? Do you spot the difference?

- If you receive an email from a person or company you know, but it seems suspicious, contact them directly via phone—using a source other than the email to find the phone number.
- The message contains multiple spelling or grammar errors—or just doesn't sound like the "sender" would normally sound.
- The message asks for personal information. Don't respond; delete the email.
- The message appears to come from a government agency and requests you to provide personal information, such as your social security number, date of birth, address or phone number. If you notice suspicious account activity or believe you are the victim of fraud or identity theft, contact Dupaco immediately at 800-373-7600.

The Cooperative Nature of Saving at Your Credit Union

It pays to save, putting you on a path to a brighter financial future. And at a cooperative like Dupaco, the money you save helps others, too.

Here's how: At a credit union, your savings—big and small—are used to help fund other members' loans. Those loans are used to make purchases, recycling the money right back into your community—helping power it, too. Every savings tool leads to the same cooperative cycle.

So, whether you're incrementally saving for specific purchases or experiences through Dupaco's Holiday Club or You Name It Savings accounts, or you're systematically saving through direct deposit, automatic transfers or ChangeUp Savings, your money is being used for good.

Not only are you saving for your goals, but you're helping fund loans for your fellow members, too. It's people helping people. And that's the credit union difference.

How to Plan a Safe Summer Road Trip

By Tim Bemis | Insurance services manager at Dupaco Insurance Services
It's road-trip season! But before you take your next adventure, be prepared.

Road-trip safety starts prior to leaving home. 1 | Know your route. GPS is great, but don't rely solely on it. Use Google Street View to first take a virtual road trip and get familiar with your route. Pack some paper maps in case you lose your cell signal.

2 | Know your vehicle. Check with your dealership or safercar.gov to make sure your vehicle isn't involved in a recall. If it is, get it repaired before you leave, and make sure your vehicle maintenance is up to date. Don't forget to keep an emergency road kit in your vehicle.

3 | Know your riders. If you'll have young passengers, line up snacks and entertainment before the trip so you can keep your attention on the road. Most importantly, keep children secure in their seats during the ride.

4 | Know your insurance. If you're involved in a crash, does your policy include trip continuation and/or rental car coverage? If your policy includes roadside assistance and towing, know what emergency number to call. And make sure your current insurance ID cards are in your glove compartment.

5 | Know your adventure. Remember, it's a road trip. It's supposed to be fun! Take your time and enjoy the ride.

Pay Yourself Before 'The Eagle Flies on Friday'

By Michael Poppen | Financial consultant

These days, most of us receive our wages biweekly, but decades ago employees were paid on a weekly basis.

At that time, there was no Friday direct deposit. Before credit and debit cards, one would grab whatever cash was needed for a weekend of fun.

In fact, a popular turn of phrase in the 1940s and '50s was, "The eagle flies on Friday!" This meant when things started hopping at the local joint, those coins and dollar bills (with minted eagles) would be trading hands quickly.

Some things never change.

Today, like years ago, after a productive week, we're ready for a night on the town! Although credit and debit cards have become the chosen means of payment, ordering some cocktails and perhaps a romantic dinner is still going to cost some coin.

Just remember, before you let those "eagles fly" on the weekend, pay yourself first. Typically, it's a good practice to salt some money away for personal savings, retirement, debt or any other financial objective.

An individual's or family's savings should equal that of three to six months of income to accommodate any emergency or contingency.

A good rule of thumb for retirement is to set aside a minimum of 10% of your income. And of course, it ideally makes the most sense to reduce or eliminate the debt that carries the highest interest.

Please check out the song "Stormy Monday" by T-Bone Walker for a bluesy reference, and have a great summer!

Why a Will Is so Important for Parents

If you have children, you know how difficult it can be to find spare time. And when you do have a free moment, end-of-life planning is about the last way you'd like to spend it.

If you die without a will or trust, most states have laws that determine what happens—including guardianship of your children.

or trust, most states have laws that determine what happens—including guardianship of your children, according to Jim Liddle, vice president, trust officer at First Community Trust.

But if you don't make those decisions, someone else will. If you die without a will

Not sure where to begin? Consider these questions as you prepare to create an estate plan:

- Who do I want to settle my affairs? That includes collecting and selling your assets, taking care of final debts, filing final tax returns and more. This person or entity is named the executor in your will.
- Who do I want to take care of my children? This person is named the guardian in your will.
- Who do I want to take care of any money I leave my children? This person or entity is named the trustee in your will.

Did You Know These 3 Things About the New Website?

dupaco.com

Known for its Money Makeovers, Dupaco got a makeover of its own in May—when Dupaco.com rolled out a fresh and simplified design, enhanced navigation and new features to offer even more ways to know and grow your money. Here are three things you might not have discovered yet while exploring the new website:

1 You can take a guided content experience.

Dupaco's home page gives you an opportunity to explore content by answering questions about your end goal. You start by finishing the statement, "I want to:"

- Boost my financial well-being
- Save or invest money
- Make great borrowing decisions

2 You can learn how to master your money.

Wherever you are in life—whether you're preparing for college or marriage, or buying a vehicle or home—you can learn more about how to get there. You'll find educational tools and resources in a variety of formats, including videos, blog posts, calculators, printable worksheets and more. The content is accessible from any Dupaco web page by selecting Learn, then Master Your Money.

3 You can find your closest branch more easily.

You can now use location services to find your nearest Dupaco branch, Live Video Teller, CO-OP™ Shared Branch and ATM. Simply click "Find a branch/ATM" at the top of any Dupaco web page.
